The Importance of Books

As any visit to the library, WHSmith, Waterstones, or even the supermarket, will tell you - there are so many wonderful storybooks to enjoy. Igniting and sustaining a love of books is such an important responsibility for early years practitioners... and if we have the added bonus of parents continuing that at home, then so much the better.

At Grafton Childcare we are always keen to develop links with parents in order to support home learning. To promote an early love of books, we have established a family lending library - lovely little bags, each with a storybook and a soft toy, puppet or toy that the children will enjoy sharing with you at home. The idea is that you can borrow one of our "Going Home Book Bags" for a minimum of two days to give you the opportunity to share the book at least twice with your child. You may however loan each "Going Home Book Bag" for up to a week, and borrow them as often as you like.

By looking at books, reading stories together, singing rhymes and songs, children will begin to develop a love of books. By talking about books, illustrations and characters, children will hear and use new vocabulary. Sharing and talking about stories and rhymes also encourages children to express their ideas, thoughts and emotions. This all helps to develop their empathy and understanding - a really important part of growing up and being able to communicate and socialise with others. We very much hope you will feel able to support your child's development by encouraging and fostering a love of books and reading. Here are our top tips:

Talk - lots! Talking with your child increases their vocabulary and helps to develop their curiosity and imagination. Taking time to talk with your child is so important - listening to talk on the TV isn't quite the same.

Role model reading. You don't always have to read to your child - just by showing that you enjoy reading will help. And that reading can be anything - magazines, newspaper, your Kindle...even the cereal packet! For boys, it's particularly important that dads show they read too - your messages on Facebook, your emails or the Sunday newspaper are fine - just show you are reading.

Read aloud to your child - as often as possible. A bedtime story is a popular time to read to your child, but it can be at any time. Even making up a story as you are walking to the shops, or driving in the car - the sillier, the better!

Have books on show at home. Access to as much reading material as possible is key. Use the library, charity shops and car boot sales - books don't have to be brand new.

Overleaf you will find a very simple record of all of the current books, soft toys, puppets and toys in our current collection. It is a very simple system, you and your child select the book from our "Going Home Book Bags", that you would like to take home. Ideally we would like you to take a book out on loan for a minimum of two days, so that that you have the opportunity to read the book with your child at least twice. But you may keep the book for up to a week if you would like to.

We have listed the books in no particular order, next to each title is a space where your child's Key Worker can note the date you took a particular "Going Home Book Bags" home and another space where we can note when it was returned. Please do not write in this record yourself.

We will also keep a master record here at Grafton Childcare, just incase you should lose this reading record, but we hope you will look after it because, when your child has read 25, 50, 75, 100, 125, 150, 175 and 200 of the books in our family lending library, your child will be presented with a certificate and book as a record of their achievement, so lets all get reading together!
